Missing many, many common local birds in Houston

It was not what my mother-in-law expected.

The bird on the cover, under the photo of the skyline of Houston, is a Purple Gallinule. Unless you are exceptionally lucky, you will not see a Gallinule within the Houston city limits. Due to the inclusion of this and other birds you won't easily find in Houston, the guide probably should be re-titled to reference birds that can be found along the Gulf Coast within an hour or two drive of Houston.
