Freedom Champions: Stories From The Front Lines In The War Of Ideas

Synopsis

How can big government be turned back? How can we ensure future generations enjoy the blessings of liberty? This book assembles answers being put into practice by Freedom Champions from more than two dozen countries. Each one has a story to tell of intelligence, strategy and determination in the battle for liberty. Mostly working behind the scenes, these Freedom Champions accomplish remarkable things with modest means, and often under difficult circumstances. They are connected by a shared vision of the free society and through the Atlas Network, which published these 30 inspiring, educational case studies on the occasion of Atlas's 30th Anniversary. The book includes an introduction and epilogue by Atlas CEO Brad Lips. Nobel Prize winner Mario Vargas Llosa praised the book, Anyone who desires the advance of liberty should understand the impact of the Atlas network of think tanks. Led by Freedom Champions who keep their eyes locked on the long-term battle against statism of all stripes these principled think tanks are playing a vital role in creating a better future.
