White (The Circle Series)

Synopsis

Time Is Running Out In Two Realities. In one world, a lethal virus threatens to destroy all life as scientists and governments scramble to find an antidote. In the other, a forbidden love could forever destroy the ragtag resistance known as The Circle. Thomas can bridge both worlds, but he is quickly realizing that he may not be able to save either. In this mind-bending adventure, Thomas must find a way to rewrite history as he navigates a whirlwind of emotions and events surrounding a pending apocalypse. The fate of two worlds comes down to one man's choice--and it is a most unlikely choice indeed. Life. Death. Love. Nothing is as it seems. Yet all will forever be transformed by the decisions of one man in the final hours of the Great Pursuit.

You absolutely must start with the first book in the series, "Black" to understand what is going on. When I started reading the series I thought it was kind of dumb but as I continued and understood the symbolism and metaphors, I couldn't put it down. It doesn't have the depth of the "Circle of Life" series (non Christian) but it is entertaining.

This book is part of the Circle series and needs it's companions in order to make sense. I have enjoyed the series and the imagery that it contains and find that it has stimulated discussion with my teenaged son who has also been reading these books. That's a win! Win! for me.

Where to begin... I could not put this down or the other two in the trilogy. The suspense between the two worlds made it very hard to stop reading. I almost didn't want to finish this book, because then I would have to admit that the story was over. I highly recommend this author and this series. The world he creates is unique with awesome underlying good versus evil themes.

Well...sometimes the style or the story line just isn't what I was hoping for..

Thomas Hunter's life is never easy these days. The threat of the unleashed virus weighs heavily on Earth. A terrorist, who unleashed the viral weapon and holds the key to the antidote-which can be exchanged for the world's nuclear power, is on the hunt to kill Thomas. Being killed is the least of Thomas' worries as he furiously attempts to retrieve the antidote before it's too late. Though Earth is being ravaged by a virus, Thomas has little control over when he sleeps and the events that occur in them. While trying to unite the Forest people and fend off the Horde, Thomas' heart has fallen for a woman. However, this is no ordinary woman. The consequences of their love will surely bring war and death to the two as well as Thomas' people. Ted Dekker's third installment does not disappoint. The development of the characters brings to light various emotional traits: love, sacrifice, pain, and strength. The reader finds that there are characters worth rooting for while there are others to loath. The quick-paced writing found in the previous two novels, is not lost in the third. The Circle series is a continuous thrill ride. The reader is engulfed by Dekker's writing style as his depictions surround the reader to feel and see as the characters feel and see. A fantastical, thrill of a ride to be taken by any reader willing.

Great book...

I enjoyed the fantasy story depicting God and Jesus as the underlying story in the characters and good verses evil.

This story was just weird enough to be fascinating. I couldn't put this down and wound up reading all three books in the same week. It doesn't matter where you start, the story still works in any order. This was reminiscent of a grown up Chronicles of Narnia. A little darker and more human perhaps, which was an accomplishment since the story switches between alternate realities. The characters will draw you in and you will feel like you know them before you are done. Black and white, the villains are bad, and sometimes, so are the heroes. Classic good which is imperfect vs. evil which is really evil!
